We're aware that these uncertain times are limiting many aspects of life as we all practice social and physical distancing. While we're continuing to feature destinations that make our state wonderful, we don't expect or encourage you to go check them out immediately. Grafton is a well-preserved ghost town in Utah's Washington County. It's a popular destination for photographers and curious travelers alike. During the Black Hawk War of 1866, residents of Grafton fled to the safety of Rockville and by 1890, only four families remained in town. Grafton is reportedly haunted by a ghost called The White Lady of Latuda. The circumstances surrounding her death is mysterious.
