Abstract

This edited collection brings a comprehensive insight into inequality and diversity of ageing, exploring the concept of social justice in gender; sexualities; culture, ethnicity and religion; disabilities, long-term conditions and care; and spatiality. The understanding of ageing diversity in social gerontology scholarship is underdeveloped and information about minority groups in the older population is often placed in retrofitted sections. Therefore, the aim of this book is to make an important contribution to fill this gap. It consists of five parts, in which inequalities associated with ageing and diversity are centred within Nancy Fraser’s theory of social justice (2013). In Chapter 1, Sue Westwood, the editor of this volume, introduces the book and presents a deeper notion of the concept of intersectionality in the field of socio-gerontology. She recognizes the importance to employ this concept, which refers to intertwined inequality in people’s experiences of disadvantage and discrimination, in order to understand the heterogeneity and diversity of ageing, enabling to clarify the complexity of inequality in old age.
Thus, avenues of enquiry, and new perspectives on in addition to traditional issues such as pursuing such enquiry. Hence the current EQUIVALENCE, SHIFI’S OF TRANSLATION and interest in translation across a variety of dis TRANSLATABILITY, the reader will also (CORPORA IN the historical section of this encyclopedia TRANSLATION STUDIES) concerns the kind of social or ethnic groups So much for Part I. Part II of this Encyclo that translators and interpreters have typically peda offers a very brief overview of national belonged to during various periods. histories of translation and interpreting in some Translators and interpreters, on the whole, thirty linguistic and. Ageing, Diversity and Equality aims to challenge and provoke the above described normativity and offer an alternative approach which highlights the heterogeneity and diversity of ageing, associated inequalities and their intersections. The Open Access version of this book, available at https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/9781351851329, has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial-No Derivatives 4.0 licence. Table of Contents. Chapter 1 Introduction. Sue Westwood. Part one: gender. Introduction to Part Three Sue Westwood. Chapter 11 Ethnicity, race and care in older age: what can a social justice framework offer? Sandra Torres. Chapter 12 Migration, ageing and social inclusion. Shereen Hussein. Abingdon, England; New York, NY: Routledge. ISBN 978-0-203-34154-4. OCLC 182573667. Official website. Routledge Revivals: Reprints from humanities and social sciences publications, from the backlists of Routledge imprints. Routledge & Kegan Paul Archives: Ledgers, authors’ agreements, printed catalogues and other papers 1853-1973, University College London Library. Records of Routledge & Kegan Paul – Correspondence files covering the period 1935 to 1990, as well as review files 1950s-1990s, Special Collections, University of Reading Library.