

The Invisible Ones: Why NGOs in the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina do not include children born from war rape in their programmes and projects

Roosendaal, M.K.S.
(2011) Faculty of Humanities Theses
(Master thesis)

Abstract

Non Governmental Organisations in Bosnia and Herzegovina rose out of the ground like mushrooms during and after the destructive Balkan war of the early nineties to provide help to the victims and survivors. During the conflict, tens of thousands of women were raped and an unknown number of them birthed ... read more

Download/Full Text

Open Access version via Utrecht University Repository

Keywords: children, rape, bosnia and herzegovina, silence, denial, stigma, NGO

See more statistics about this item

Contact Utrecht University Repository: Call us: +31 (0) 30 2536115 Mail to: library@uu.nl

6 Ending Ethnic Discrimination in Bosnia and Herzegovina .7. Key Recommendations . The European Court of Human Rights has found that their exclusion from politics and public institutions at the highest levels of national and local politics constitutes unlawful ethnic discrimination. The constitutions of the Republika Srpska and the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina specifically stipulate that employment in public institutions should be proportional, based on population established in the 1991 census, which undercounted Roma in Bosnia. Ending Ethnic Discrimination in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Rapes in Bosnia 3. Victim and Survivor: Narrated Social Identities of. Women who Experienced Rape during the War 4. What Do We Know about War Rapes before the. 1990s? 5. The Turning Points in the 1990s which Created a. He violently raped two female detainees during interrogations inside the Čelebići prison camp. One of the rapes was conducted in the presence of other guards. He raped two victims along with other soldiers. He raped another two victims along with other soldiers during a period in which they were kept in his apartment. The United Nations is raping children. The facilitation of these child rapes is in part funded by the UK taxpayer. You think this is "fake news"? Well let's go right to the top and check the facts. It is a huge export earner for their militaries and it is paid for by the net contributing countries like the UK, the US and Australia. And this is not a surprise or unknown. Google "food for sex" and "UN sexual abuse" and see just how much comes up and for how long it comes up. The rapists should then be charged, if not in their home courts then elsewhere. Fourthly, all UN agencies and NGOs should have independent and robust confidential whistle blowing procedures to identify the paedophiles.