Books for the for school-aged (ages 6 to 9). From Far Away, by Robert Munsch and Saoussan Askar; illustrated by Michael Martchenko This may not be what you'd expect from a Robert Munsch book, but the content speaks to the lives of so many Canadian children. Based on a series of letters that Saoussan Askar wrote to Robert Munsch, the book shares her experience of coming to Canada from war-torn Lebanon and learning to adjust to a new home and life. Told with tenderness and a little humour, the story will be relevant to readers who have immigrated to Canada or know someone who has. Pier 21, by Linda Granfield Known as Canada's Ellis Island, Pier 21 in Halifax, NS, was the site through which new immigrants entered the country from 1928 to 1971. FREE UK DELIVERY.
