

Search

Enter search terms:

in this series

Advanced Search

Notify me via email or RSS

Browse

Collections

Disciplines

Authors

Profiles

Author Corner

Author FAQ

Update Your Profile Information

Links

Graduate College

Research and Sponsored Programs

Rod Library

Digital Collections

University Archives

FEATURED

IOWA RESEARCH COMMONS

New Posts

UNI ScholarWorks

ISSN 2578-3637

GRADUATE RESEARCH PAPERS

The importance of building classroom community

Download

Share Feedback

Sara A. Retallick, University of Northern Iowa

Availability

Open Access Graduate Research Paper

Keywords

Classroom environment--Social aspects;

Abstract

This paper will examine the importance of building community within the classroom. Information will relate classroom community with student needs and classroom management. It will provide a written visual on what community looks like in a classroom and explore different strategies important to community building within the classroom. A review of the No Child Left Behind Act and policymakers' views on community in the classroom will be discussed along with various community building programs.

Year of Submission

2007

Degree Name

Master of Arts in Education

Department

Department of Curriculum and Instruction

First Advisor

Lynn Ethan Nielsen

Comments

If you are the rightful copyright holder of this graduate research paper and wish to have it removed from the Open Access Collection, please submit a request to scholarworks@uni.edu and include clear identification of the work, preferably with the URL.

Date Original

2007

Object Description

1 PDF file (30 pages)

Copyright

©2007 Sara A. Retallick

Language

EN

File Format

application/pdf

Recommended Citation

INCLUDED IN

Curriculum and Instruction Commons

SHARE

Classroom management creates a set of expectations used in an organized classroom environment. It includes routines, rules and consequences. Effective classroom management paves the way for the teacher to engage the students in learning. Effective Teaching. Effective classroom management gives the students little time to misbehave. Because the expectations are clearly explained, the students know what they need to do. Transitions in particular are easier to control when a teacher has strong classroom management skills. The expectations for behaviors that are part of a classroom management plan give students boundaries, as well as consequences. Source: <http://www.ehow.com/>. Diversity is an important element of any classroom alike. Even more significant is teaching students the importance of acknowledging and accepting these differences as they make each individual unique. Encourage students to open their mind and explore new possibilities, and have diversity and acceptance, whether racial, ethnic, or other, become integrated into students' daily lives. The Importance of Building a Community of Learners. Online teaching strategies: Top tips for K-12 teachers. Top 5 Back-to-School Product Features and Resources. You can add community-building elements to lessons – even small ones, such as Turn and Talk or reminding students that mistakes help us to learn. You can choose how you greet your students at the start of the school day and how you send them home at the end. Each day, dozens of your choices and interactions, as well as the procedures and structures you put in place at the start of the year, help to build your classroom community. Take tons of pictures and/or have one of your classroom jobs be class photographer. Print and post throughout the classroom. Change frequently and send the ones you take down home with students who are in them, or collect them in a scrapbook that you keep in your class library. Students can write the captions.